Eric:

My client confirmed that the Chase account ending 1528 was the JS Skillman account.

We do not consent to the proposed amendment and plan to oppose the motion.

David,

Following up on the below. Again, looking to avoid a subpoena if we can.

I'm also writing to let you know we intend to file a motion to amend our complaint today or tomorrow. My client is still reviewing the draft so I don't have a redline to show you that will reveal our additions but I can tell you that generally we'll be adding various fraudulent transfer claims related to the October 1, 2020 document and the Release. We'll also likely be making an alternative claim related to the Note being a fraudulent transfer in the event the other agreements are deemed valid.

I would understand of course if you can't consent to amendment based only on that, but if the above is sufficient for your client to determine whether he would consent to an amendment please let me know and I'll so indicate in the motion.

David,

Thanks for the call today. Please let me know if you can confirm that the bank account at Chase ending in -1528 was the account for JS Skillman.
